

When zero equals positive performance

1 Year S&P 500 Performance Triggered account

81%

The S&P 500 Index has been positive 81% of the time over the past 20 years.¹

Market uncertainty has people revisiting their retirement savings strategy. Until recently, many have turned to safer products, such as a low yield CD, for market protection. But a well-rounded portfolio that's built for retirement usually combines products that focus on either growth potential or market protection. What if a solution came along that offered both?

Secure predictable growth while staying protected

Available with your Lincoln fixed indexed annuity, the 1 Year S&P 500 Performance Triggered account option is tied to the S&P 500 Index, which boasts a long track record of positive returns. In fact, over the last 20 years the index has been positive 81% of the time¹—or roughly 4 out of every 5 years.

How the account works

- Tracks the performance of the S&P 500 Index over a one-year indexed term
- Credits a specified rate if the index is flat or positive at the end of the indexed term — guaranteed
- You're covered with 100% downside protection when the index is negative

Tracking the benefits of positive performance over the past five years
