Filing Status Single Married filing jointly Married filing separately (MFS) Head of household (HOH) Qualifying surviving spouse (QSS)

Check only one box. If you checked the MFS box, enter the name of your spouse. If you checked the HOH or QSS box, enter the child's name if the qualifying

Lines 2a and 2b: Consider ways to defer taxes on some of your money. When comparing taxable vs. tax-advantaged returns, be sure to take your marginal tax rate (the rate on the last dollar of earned income) into account. A higher marginal tax rate means more taxes, making tax-advantaged investing even more important.

Lines 3b and 7: Reduce the taxes you pay on dividends and capital gains from taxable mutual funds by moving to tax-efficient funds or holding retirement savings inside a tax-deferred vehicle, such as a qualified plan, IRA or nonqualified annuity.

Lines 4b and 5b: The income under 4b could be from an RMD (Required Minimum Distribution), and the income under 5b may be from a pension. Your financial professional can verify the sources and help you decide what to do with this income if you don't need it now.

Line 6b: Are you paying taxes on Social Security benefits? You may be able to reposition some of your assets to help reduce the tax liability on your Social Security income.

Line 11: Depending on your age, income, and tax filing status, you may be able to take a full or partial deduction for contributions up to $6,000 to an IRA until April 18th, 2023 (for tax year 2022). If you're over age 50, you can make an additional "catch-up" contribution of $1,000.

Line 12: If you're the beneficiary of an IRA, cashing it out may create a significant tax liability. If you're the surviving spouse, rolling over the IRA to your name may be more tax-efficient. Also, IRA beneficiaries may be able to take an itemized deduction equal to the estate tax paid on the IRA.

Line 15: Participating in a company-sponsored retirement plan may help reduce your taxable income.
